PROSPECTUS

OF THE Louisianian.

We endeavor to establish another Republican journal in New Orleans, to fill a necessity which has long existed, and sometimes painfully felt. In the transition state of our people, in their struggling efforts to attain that position in the Body Politic, which we conceive to be their right, and which we regard that much information, guidance, encouragement, and reproof have been lost, in consequence of the lack of a medium, which these deficiencies might be supplied. We shall strive to make the Louisianian a desideratum in these times.

POLICY.

Our motto indicates, the Louisianian shall be "Republican at all times, and under all circumstances." We advocate the security and enjoyment of broad civil liberty, the absolute equality of all men before the law, and an impartial distribution of honor and patronage to all who merit it. We shall advocate the removal of all disabilities, foster kindred forbearance, where malignity and hatred reigned, and seek for peace and justice where wrong and oppression prevailed. Thus united in aims and objects, we shall conserve the best interests, elevate our noble race to an enviable position among the States, by the development of all the resources, and secure the benefits of the mighty changes in the history and condition of the South, and the Country.

Believing that there can be no true republic without the supremacy of law, we urge a strict and undiscriminating administration of justice.

TAXATION.

We shall support the doctrine of an equitable division of taxation among all classes, a faithful collection of the taxes, economy in the expenditures, conformably with the exigencies of the State or Country and the discharge of every legitimate obligation.

EDUCATION.

We shall sustain the carrying out of the provisions of the act establishing a common school system, and urge the paramount duty of education of the youth, as vitally connected with the enlightenment, and the security and stability of a Republican Government.

FINAL.

By a generous, manly, independent, and judicious conduct, we shall strive to make our paper, from an ephemeral and temporary existence, and establish it upon a basis, that if we are "commanded," we shall at all times "obey" success.

Bookseller and Stationer

ROOMS STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE

Republican Party, State of Louisiana, New Orleans, March 18, 1872.

—To the Republican State of Louisiana:

The Republican State Central Committee having, in the discharge of the duties imposed upon it by the last State Convention, arrived at the regular period which has been set apart by the usages of the party for its State Conventions, and having authorized its President to issue the usual call, therefore deem the occasion suitable to address these brief remarks upon the political situation to their fellow Republicans. The quadrennial election for a President of the United States occurs this year. The election of this high officer of the Republic, whose character and political views are so important, especially to the Republicans of the South, and whose selection almost decides our political fate for the next four years, and perhaps the whole future, makes this election one of the deepest and most vital interest to all our people. We feel that we speak their unanimous sentiment when we invite them to respond to the call of the National Republican Committee, and advise them to send our best representatives to the Philadelphia Convention, to help in selecting a tried, true and unflinching Republican to be our next President. Our State election is also of the greatest importance. We have to elect a Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor of Public Accounts, Superintendent of Public Education, Attorney General, a new General Assembly, and Representatives in Congress. In fact, this election is to determine a question still more important to us than who shall be the next President. It is to determine for the next four years whether the State government shall be Republican or Democratic; in favor of equal rights, or against them; in favor of progress, education and improvement for all people, black as well as white, or in favor only of white progress, education and improvement, and opposed to equal advantages for the black people; whether we shall retain all that we have won and go forward, or whether we shall lose all and go back to where we were at the close of the war.

We wish plainly and distinctly to understand the fact that all parties opposed to the Republican party, whether under the name of Democrats, Reformers, People's party, or any other title whatever, are simply the old Democratic party under a new name, and have for their object but one thing, that is to throw the State government out of the control of the Republican party and into the hands of their enemies. Our people will also see that to defeat the strong and determined efforts of the enemy to again get control of the State, one thing is the great essential, that all Republicans shall be UNITED AND WORK TOGETHER. If we do this, victory is certain.

To this end we cordially invite all true and earnest Republicans, without regard to past differences, to unite in this convention and to nominate such a ticket and adopt such a platform as will command the respect and support of the whole people.

All good Republicans also desire that our party shall, as we are assured it will, declare itself decidedly, distinctly and definitely in favor of retrenchment, reform, reduction of taxes and the removal of all unnecessary burdens on commerce and trade, and in favor of equal and just legislation for all interests and all classes of persons.

By order of the committee.

P. B. S. PINCKBACK,

President.

WILLIAM VIGORS, Recording Secretary, State Central Committee.

Republican papers throughout the State are requested to copy.

Important Notice.

Resolved, That the convention called by the State Committee to meet in New Orleans on the second day of May, 1872, be postponed until Tuesday, the twenty-eighth day of May, 1872, and that notice be given to the parish and ward committees of the several parishes and wards.

REMEMBER BOYS MAKE MEN.

When you see a ragged urchin
Standing wistful in the street,
With torn hat and kneeless trousers,
Dirty face and bare red feet,
Pass not by the child unheeding;
Smile upon him. Mark me—when
He's grown he'll not forget it,
For, remember, boys make men.

When the buoyant youthful spirits
Overflow in boyish freak,
Chide your child in gentle accents—
Do not in your anger speak.
You must sow in youthful bosoms
Seeds of tender mercy; their
Plants will grow and bear good fruitage
When the erring boys are men.

Have you never seen a grandeur,
With his eyes aglow with joy,
Bring to mind some act of kindness—
Something said to him—a boy?
Or relate some slight or coldness,
With a brow all clouded, when
He said they were so thoughtless
To remember boys make men.

Let us try to add some pleasure
To the life of every boy,
For each child needs tender interest,
In its sorrow and its joy.
Call your boys home by its brightness,
They avoid a gloomy den,
And seek for comfort elsewhere;
And remember, boys make men.

HON. JAMES L. ALCORN, OF MISSISSIPPI.

This once-honored portion of the land, which once sent the best and ablest men to the National Congress and gave Washington and Jefferson as Chief Magistrates to the Republic, has not to-day a single member in the Cabinet, not a representative in the Senate, no representative to any foreign court.

Who is to deliver the once gallant, noble and generous people of the South from their present degraded and oppressed condition? In looking over the Senate of the United States we fix upon James L. Alcorn, of Mississippi as their future champion in that body. He was born in the Territory of Illinois, in the year 1816; his parents moved from South Carolina; his grandfather came within five votes of being elected as the pro-slavery candidate for president of the constitutional convention, which framed the constitution for the State of Illinois. He commenced the practice of the law in Kentucky, and was elected as a Whig, from a Democratic county, to the Legislature of that State. He then moved to Mississippi, and was elected as a Whig from the Democratic county of Coahoma to the State Legislature. Since his election in 1842 to the Legislature from Coahoma county, it has ever since been a Whig or Republican county. He was nominated by the Whigs for Governor of the State of Mississippi in 1855, but declined. He was a Whig candidate for Congress against L. C. Lamar, a Democrat, from a District containing 4,800 majority. Alcorn reduced this majority to 1,200. Every other district in the State increased the Democratic majority. Gov. Alcorn served eight years in the House of Representatives and eight years in the Senate in the State of Mississippi. He has been in all the leading State conventions, save the one held in 1868, since he became a citizen of the State of Mississippi.

He was appointed at the commencement of the late war a general in the State service, and Jefferson Davis was petitioned by the whole of his brigade to appoint him General in the Confederate army. But owing to some old political differences between Davis and himself, the ex-President of the Confederate States refused to appoint him. He opposed secession until his State assumed its position, and then gave his allegiance to what he considered a wrong move. At the close of the war, the Legislature of 1865 elected him, together with Judge Sharkey, to the United States Senate. They were refused their seats.

In 1868 he was elected Governor of the State at the assembling of the Legislature, and was chosen United States Senator for six years, commencing 4th of March, 1871.

In this canvass for the Governorship, Governor Alcorn proved himself the savior of the Grant administration. He made Mississippi the breakwater to stay the Democratic flood that was sweeping over the South, and had already engulfed Tennessee and swept Virginia from the fold of the Republican party into the hands of the Democracy; and had it not been for this bold, fearless, and eloquent champion of the State of Mississippi would have been placed side by side in the Democratic column with Virginia and Tennessee. By his courage, determination, and powerful eloquence the South was saved to the Grant administration and the Republican party.

For these great services Governor Alcorn has never been appreciated by the Grant administration. The time will come when they can count upon his host, and not fall far short in their reckoning. His great ambition now is to disenthral and regenerate his brothers in the South, and for his field of action, for his work, he has selected the American Senate, wherein the American people will hear from him and judge of his greatness by his acts. Governor Alcorn neither seeks office nor emolument. On the committees of the Senate he will be found upon Naval Affairs and Levees. The latter committee, we presume, if he had been consulted, he would have preferred to have been on, above all others in the Senate, as he desired to be placed where he could be most useful to his people; and no man in the edge of the wants of the people of that country, and of the leveeing of the Mississippi, than the Hon. James L. Alcorn.

He was for twenty years or more the acknowledged leader of the Whig party in the State of Mississippi, and has been a bold and fearless advocate of their measures, which he conceived to be right and just. His integrity as a man and an officer has never been questioned.

James L. Alcorn springs from an honored stock, to be found but rarely now in the old original thirteen States which formed the compact against Great Britain. Many of the sons of these people, like young Alcorn, made their homes in some one of the new republics, which, like Mississippi, form a part of the great Union. Why should he not, as an instrument in the hands of Providence, with his fine culture, judicial experience, legislative training, great integrity, and courage that goes to make up a man and a statesman, be selected as the champion of this much-abused people? The task is great; but he will prove himself equal to the emergency, and bring the South and her honored name back to the page of American history, where no dishonor or shall ever tarnish it. Then his name will be enrolled in the annals of his adopted State, which shall stand as high as that of Sergeant S. Prentiss, George Poindexter, and Robert J. Walker.—Philadelphia Mercury.

PROBABLY the oldest tree on record is a cypress in Somma, Lombardy, that was known to be standing when Julius Caesar lived—1,900 years ago. It is 106 feet high and 20 feet in circumference.

An elderly lady states that when she was a girl she asked a gentleman to clasp her cloak. He did so—and its contents at the same time.

LIBERIA.

The Cultivation of Coffee.

Mr. J. Milton Turner, attached to the United States Legation in Liberia, writes as follows to the St. Louis Democrat.

"I have the honor of sending you a package of African (or more strictly speaking) Liberian coffee. The coffee has been pronounced by those of great experience in the cultivation of the article equal in quality with any in the world, and superior to most. The reason it does not present a more desirable appearance is, that the people of the country have not the necessary machinery for taking the berry from the hull that covers it. The hull was removed from this by beating in an ordinary mortar, by which process you will discover many of the grains were broken. By close observation you will find a misfortune of greater importance has befallen this coffee by reason of the same process, to wit: the very delicate skin that nature provides the coffee-berry with, for the purpose of preserving that aromatic flavor that renders the Mocha so delectable to the practiced appetite of the epicure, is almost entirely destroyed. Liberians are but now discovering the fact that coffee is to their country, of by far greater importance than cotton has proved to us. In vain have they endeavored to find their staple in sugar-growing. Each country can make its own sugar, either from the beet, cane or some other sugar-producing plant. Cotton can never be more than their auxiliary staple, because they will not be found equal to enter into comparative competition with the great modern republic, and because of their being located so many removes from the great markets of civilization. If this infant republic outlives the political revolution now existing here, one decade more, I am quite certain, the prolific soil of Liberia will be shaded by an almost uninterrupted coffee grove, stretching along the Liberian coast from Cape Mount to Cape palmus."

Josh Billings on Faith.

Faith is the rite bower of Hope. If it want for faith, there would be no living in this world. We couldn't even eat hash with enny safety, if it want for faith.

Human knowledge is very short, and don't reach but a little ways, and even that little ways is twilite; but faith lengthens out the road, and makes it light, so that we can see tew read the letterings on the mile stuns.

Faith has won more victories than all the other pashuns or sentiments of the heart and bed put together. Faith is one of them warriors ped.

But Faith is no milkop, but a live fighter. She don't set down and gro stupid with resignashun, and git weak with the beauty of her attributes; but she is the heroine of forlorn Hope—she feathers her arrows with reason, and fires rite at the bull's eye of fate.

I think now if I couldn't hav but one of the moral attributes, I would take it all in faith—red hot faith I mean; and tho I mite make sum fust rate blunders, I would do a rushing bizzness among various dri bones there is laying around loose in this world.—N. Y. Weekly.

BAD ON THE BACKLON.—An exchange furnishes the following ludicrous paragraph:

An old bachelor who had become melancholy and poetical, wrote some verses for the village paper, in which he expressed the hope that the time would come when he should

"Rest calmly within a shroud,
With a weeping widow by his side."

But to his inexpressible horror it came out in print:

"When I shall rest calmly with a shawl,
With a whipping widow by my side."

A beautiful young lady who had allowed the tendrils of her heart to twine fondly around a strapping great conductor on a horse car had her affectionate nature crushed by the discovery that he was taking fare from her and dead heading another girl who lived on the same street. She did not eat pickles and pine away, but wrote him an affecting epistle, which read: "You want to nok down enuff stamps to get me a paisher shawl & a dolly vardin before sunday, or I will put an awning over that girl's eye the next time I meet her in society. You heer me."

The last novelty in sewing-machines is one that will follow the thread of an argument.

A SECRET FOR WOMEN.

Many women before marriage, made it their study to please the eyes of the men they wished to marry, loose their affection after marriage by carelessness in dress. Men are fastidious in this matter. Even those who are careless in regard to their own appearance take delight in seeing their wives neat in their attire. They miss those coquettish garments, the neatly dressed hair, and all the thousand tasty and fanciful little articles with which young women adorn themselves, more than they would be willing to allow. The neatness and order which charmed them, too often give place to a slovenly morning gown, frowzy hair, slipshod and unlaced shoes, and the like. Men reason that they should have the same desire to please the men they have chosen, after marriage as well as before it. The last new song loses its charm coming from the lips of a slattern. The poetry goes out of life at a glance, and the household loses its brightness. The wife, who on account of household cares, neglects her personal appearance, commits a grave mistake, which too often bears bitter fruit, and they see their husbands leave their society for that of others without really knowing the cause, and most men are too proud to tell them. Let women always give the same care to dress after marriage which they gave it before.

For these great services Governor Alcorn has never been appreciated by the Grant administration. The time will come when they can count upon his host, and not fall far short in their reckoning. His great ambition now is to disenthral and regenerate his brothers in the South, and for his field of action, for his work, he has selected the American Senate, wherein the American people will hear from him and judge of his greatness by his acts. IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

TO THE
American People
OF THE INTRODUCTION
FOR THE FIRST TIME IN THE
UNITED STATES OF
Dr. G. Collette's CELEBRATED EUROPEAN RENOWNED ALTERNATIVE PILLS.

The success of which in England, France, Germany, Austria and Prussia is unpretended, having entirely superseded all mag-nesia, salts, selters, oils, etc., of every description, and are universally acknowledged to be the most effective and agreeable Pur-gative ever yet introduced.

Dr. Collette has just completed arrange-ments to supply the people in America with his valuable Pills, and to prevent any imi-tation of them, manufactures them at his Central Depot, No. 32 Carondelet street, New Or-leans, where orders are already pouring in from all parts of the country. Dr. Collette, to assure the people that his

are not gotten up on speculation and never yet tried, would state that he is a graduate member of the Royal College of Surgeons in London, and during his extensive practice for the last twenty-five years in Europe, has as-sured to produce some medicine which would come within the reach of all, and which would effectively cure a large number of complaints so general, and for the want of an article of this kind generally goes neglected until the health is impaired and undermined and the constitution shat-tered. He, therefore, has tried them effec-tually in Europe for the last fifteen years, with the most satisfactory results, and their success has been so complete, that it has as-tonished even himself, and surpassed his most sanguine expectations. One or two boxes save hundreds of dollars in doctors' fees every year in curing the following com-plaints, which are at the foundation of all diseases:

If your blood is rancid or vitiated, purify it with

DR. COLLETTE'S ALTERNATIVE PILLS.

If your skin is diseased and you are cov-ered with pimples, boils, blotches, old sores, scurf or eruptions,

DR. COLLETTE'S ALTERNATIVE PILLS will remove and cure them all.

Dr. G. Collette,
12 Hyde Park Gate,
London, August 14, 1871.

DEAR SIR.—We have pleasure in informing you that after several trials of your valuable ALTERNATIVE PILLS, both among our outside patients and especially in the Fever and Cholera Hospitals, we have found that in every case where your Pills were given in time, that they invariably checked the disease at once, and especially so in all Cholera cases, not a single life of which has been lost, wherever we have used them. Such is our confidence, after having proved them by five years' experience, we have decided to adopt your pills as our standard, and to express to you our most distinguished regard for so valuable and useful a discovery. Please for-ward to above address one gross boxes of your ALTERNATIVE PILLS, and find inclosed cheque for same, and oblige your most obedi-ent servant,

A. K. WILSON, Esq., M. D.
JOHN F. MARSH, M. D.
HENRY C. ROBERT, M. D.
C. E. TRACY, M. D.

Dr. Collette would also state as an evidence of their usefulness in Fever cases that his

were used by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales during his illness, and the sur-geons would not allow any other Purgative Medicine to be used.

In order that the people may not be de-ceived in purchasing his Alternative Pills, he would state that they are all manufactured at his

HARPER'S BAZAR.

A supplement containing numerous full-sized patterns of useful articles accompa-nies the paper every fortnight.

Harper's Bazar contains 16 folio pages of the size of Harper's Weekly, printed on superfine calendered paper, and is pub-lished weekly

NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

Harper's Bazar contains, besides pic-tures, patterns, etc., a variety of matter of especial use and interest to the family; articles on health, dress, and housekeep-ing in all its branches; its editorial matter is specially adapted to the circle it is in-tended to interest and instruct; and it has, besides, good stories and literary matter of merit. It is not surprising that the journal, with such features, has achieved in a short time an immense success; for something of its kind was desired in thousands of families, and its publishers have filled the demand. The young lady who buys a single number of Harper's Bazar is made a subscriber for life.—New York Evening Post.

The Bazar is excellent. Like all the periodicals which the Harpers publish, it is almost ideally well edited, and the class of readers for whom it is intended—the mothers and daughters in average fam-ilies—cannot but profit by its good sense and good taste, which, we have no doubt, are to-day making very many homes hap-pier than they may have been before the women began taking lessons in personal and household and social management from this good-natured mentor.—The Na-tion, N. Y.

Subscriptions.—1872.
Terms:

NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

The Model Newspaper of our country. Complete in all the departments of an American Family Paper, HARPER'S WEEK-ly has earned for itself a right to its title, "A JOURNAL OF CIVILIZATION."—New York Evening Post.

The best publication of its class in America, and so far ahead of all other journals as not to permit of any compari-son between it and any of their number. Its columns contain the finest collections of reading matter that are printed. * * * Its illustrations are numerous and beau-tiful, being furnished by the chief artists of the country.—Boston Traveller.

Harper's Weekly is the best and most interesting illustrated newspaper. Nor does its value depend on its illustrations alone. Its reading matter is of a high order of literary merit—varied, instruc-tive, entertaining, and unexceptionable.—N. Y. Sun.

Subscriptions.—1871.
The Annual Volumes of HARPER'S WEEKLY, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by express, free of expense, for $7 00 each. A complete Set, comprising Four-teen Volumes, sent on receipt of cash at the rate of $5 25 per vol., freight at ex-pense of purchaser. Volume XIV ready January 1st, 1871.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

"Unquestionably the best sustained work of the kind in the World."

HARPER'S MAGAZINE

Notices of the Press.

No more delightful travels are printed in the English language than appear per-petually in HARPER'S MAGAZINE. They are read with equal interest and satisfac-tion by boys of every grade from sixteen to eighty. Its scientific papers, while suf-ficiently profound to demand the attention of the learned, are yet admirably adapted to the popular understanding, and de-signed as much to diffuse correct information concerning current scientific discovery as it could be if it was the organ of the "So-ciety for the Diffusion of Useful Knowl-edge." The great design of HARPER'S is to give correct information and rational amusement to the great masses of the peo-ple. There are few intelligent American families in which HARPER'S MAGAZINE would not be an appreciated and high-ly-welcome guest. There is no monthly Magazine an intelligent reading family can less afford to be without. Many Maga-zines are accumulative. HARPER'S is edit-ed. There is not a magazine that is print-ed which shows more intelligent pains ex-erted in its articles and mechanical execu-tion. There is not a cheaper Magazine pub-lished. There is not, confessedly, a more pop-ular Magazine in the world.

It is one of the wonders of journalism—the editorial management of HARPER'S.—The Nation.

keep running when the wearer sits down or stand up. When he walks or rides. In fact, it is expected to do its duty at all times, in every place and in every position.

A Genuine Waltham Watch
will fulfill all these requirements. I would once a day, it will faithfully tick for you a hundred and twenty-six million times in a year, without even requiring fresh oil
all that time.

A Genuine Waltham Watch
contains

5 Spring, 9 wheels, 51 Screws, and 98 other parts making altogether 138 separate pieces.
